

A photograph of a female doctor with glasses and a stethoscope around her neck, wearing a light blue shirt, pointing at a tablet held by a female patient with short blonde hair. They are sitting at a table outdoors with greenery in the background.

Can your health data be shared with doctors in other countries?

PROGRESSIVE

Yes, it can.

There are standards on how your health data should be recorded so that, if necessary, it can be shared with doctors in other countries.

Visit the PROGRESSIVE website and know more about the standards on Electronic Health Record Communication EN ISO 13606 series and other relevant standards around health information and ageing well.

www.progressivestandards.org

This Project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme under Grant Agreement no. 727802

PROGRESSIVE STANDARDS AROUND
ICT FOR ACTIVE AND HEALTHY AGEING